

The Messenger

AN UNSHAKEABLE FOUNDATION

By Lakan Mariano

No passage of scripture stands alone. Each passage of scripture is understood by looking at the verses before and after.

I love the chapter and verse divisions because they help me locate a passage quickly. But one disadvantage of having the chapter and verse divisions is they can make us think that the new chapter is talking about something different from what is said in the preceding chapter even when they are not.

A common verse that people hang on to is Romans 8:28, "And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good, for those who are called according to his purpose."

It is a beautiful promise, a promise that is true. But the promise is not that your rebellious child will repent, or your cancer will be healed, or your financial woes cured. If you continue reading we see the context of that promise.

"And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose. 29 For those God foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brothers and sisters. 30 And those he predestined, he also called; those he called, he also justified; those he justified, he also glorified" (Romans 8:28-30).

A verse may make us feel better. Seeing the big picture of each book and the whole Bible will give us an unshakeable foundation.
